

Kaukou Honeybush, A Natural Ingredient

Honeybush is indigenous and proudly South African that naturally grows on southern slope farmland in the Garden Route of South Africa. It is a natural ingredient emanating from the rich biodiversity of our Cape Floral Kingdom. The indigenous Khoikhoi used the honeybush shrub to make a medicinal tea with a pleasant, mildly sweet taste and aroma.

Honeybush is mainly used as a herbal tea that is caffeine-free with high antioxidants and low tannins. Kaukou Honeybush is organically certified and is non-genetically modified. Our Herold Meander farm is owned and managed by descendants of the indigenous community.

Super Fine Tea & Extract

Honeybush extracts display antimicrobial and anti-inflammatory effects and are used traditionally to soothe skin irritations and treat eczema and psoriasis. It is also beneficial for allergic reactions on the skin. The soothing and moisturising effects of honeybush make it an ideal cosmetic ingredient.
